Health Information Technology (HIT) such as electronic health records and patient portals, are vital tools to ensure care is available, affordable and sustainable for the community.

Alliant Quality, the QIN-QIO (Quality Innovation Network-Quality Improvement Organization) for Georgia and North Carolina, is collaborating with Georgia Health Information Technology Extension Center (GA-HITEC), Georgia Academy of Family Physicians (GAFP), and other partners to provide physicians with strategies to improve coordination of care for patients living with many chronic medical conditions

Eligible professionals, eligible hospitals, critical access hospitals, along with patients and families, community organizations, and HIT stakeholders are invited to join efforts in a learning and action network (LAN). The goal of the network is to educate providers and increase participation in Medicaid and Medicare EHR Incentive Programs, promote patient empowerment in HIT, and reduce HIT disparities in underserved communities.
